

The Frei series includes a three-seater sofa, sectional elements with right or left armrest and a side table available in two dimensions.

The structure is made of thermo-treated ash panels – that is, subjected to an ecological manufacturing process that increases its dimensional stability, makes it suitable for outdoor use and gives it particular shades of colour – and is provided with plastic spacers.

The seat and back cushions are independent and are padded with polyester fiber and stress resistant polyurethane encased in a fixed foam covering in waterproofed polyester.

The upholstery cover is removable and available in all the fabrics in the collection.

The side tables complete the collection and feature the same structure of the seating pieces; the top can be either in Venice or in Opus.
